

Food raised in wetlands

Many commodities used in the traditional society were made by wetland products. Most of these commodities had been replaced by electrical appliances and manufactured products. However, wetland crops such as Taro, Water Spinach and Watercress are still being used as ingredients for common Chinese dishes.

9.4.1. Put a "✓" adjacent to the products that made from wetland products.

9.4.2. List more examples on dishes and commodities that made of wetland crops.

---

---

---

